- 2- In layers palette expand the icon's layer folder and select the layer named "Logo"
- 3- A sharp stroke apperas around the logo on the surface of icon. (Showing that vector layer for "Logo" is enabled.)

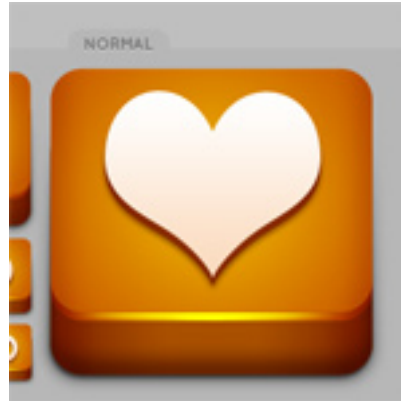

- 4- From the toolbox select "Custom Shape Tool"
- 5- From the property bar appeared at top, select a shape from the collection.
- 6- Click and drag the cursor to draw the shape in the appropriate way (You can hold Shift to draw a proportional shape)

- 7- Select "Path Selection Tool" from the toolbox (Or click A). With the tool selected click on the older shape. it becomes selected and then press Delete.
- 8- place and align the new shape on the icon.
- 9- Select the new shape using the "Path Selection Tool" > Press Ctrl + C
- 10- On layer palette click on the Gray part of the "LogoBody" layer to show the vector layer and click it with "Path Selection Tool".

11- Press Ctrl + V to paste the new shape.

12- Place and align the shapes with each other and with the button. (Normally the “LogoBody” layers should be placed 5px below from the “Logo” layer.

Note: Usually there is two additional “Logo” layer above the main “Logo” layer and a “logo Body” copy above the main “logo Body”. You can hide them for your new shapes. Advanced users may like to edit them based on the new shape.

How to edit icons’ appearance?

1- Select the “Surface” layer from the palette. Scroll-up the palette to first layer in the Parent Layer folder. With “Shift” key pressed select the first Layer. Now all the layers prior to “surface” are also selected.

2- nudge the selection downwards or upwards. You’ll have a bolder or slimmer icon.
